Filmmakers for Future was formed after a few of us made a video for the German Fridays for Future movement and were dissatisfied with how our industry was handling the climate crises.

At that time, many "for Future" groups were formed with the goal of supporting youth in their struggle for appropriate climate policies. Like many of these groups, we started with a simple statement, which is still our rallying point today.

As time went by, more and more projects were started and our goal to push our own industry forward became increasingly clear.
